Page on a Web Site

Directions

Author's last name, first name. "Title of the page." Title of the web site. Publisher or sponsor, date of publication. Web. Date of access.

What the Directions Mean

Write the author's last name. Comma. Space. Write the author's first name (and any middle name or initials). Period. Space.

NOTE: If the author is unknown, or it there is more than one author, or if the author is a corporation, or if the book has an editor, use the same directions given for books!

In quotation marks write the title of the page on the web site. Put the period inside the end quote. Space.

NOTE: If there is no title on the page, you may use a generic label like "Home page" or "Introduction" or "Blog posting." in that case, do NOT use quotation marks.

Use italics to write the title of the web site. Period. Space.

Write the name of the publisher or sponsor of the site—the person or group responsible of the site. (If you can't find that, put "N.p." for "No publisher.") Comma. Space.

Write the day and month and year the site was published (abbreviate all but May, June, and July). Period. Space.

NOTE: If the page you are using doesn't show a date last updated or a copyright date, try going to the home page of the site. Use that date. If you still can't find a date, write "n.d." for "no date."

Write the word "Web." Period. Space.

Write the day and month and year you went to the site (abbreviate all but May, June, and July). Period.

The entry is finished!

Sample

CDC Emergency Risk Communication Branch (ERCB), Division of Emergency. "Smallpox Disease Overview." Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. CDC, 30 Dec. 2004.

Web. 4 May 2011.